Alma Doepel Framed

The skeleton for the new cover (below) has just been completed. The cover is being built to provide all-weather protection for the ship and for the shipwrights after the ship is raised from the water.

The Alma Doepel Supporters Club performs a vital role to assist in the restoration of the ship. Membership fees are not only used to cover incidental club costs, but surplus funds are added to the proceeds from other fund raising activities and applied to essential costs for insurance, tools and supplies for restoration activities.
